The MAIDS Homes Services

Working with CommLab was a pleasure, and I found them easier to do business with than two other state-side vendors we had worked with.

CommLab's staff demonstrated expertise designing, developing and assessing effective eLearning courseware. They were patient with our questions, and our programs were delivered on time, within budget, and of high quality design.

What impressed me most about CommLab . . . was that we would submit our changes in the afternoon, and often receive the revised eLearning programs the next morning. The ftp site they set up allowed us to view our programs, download them and test them on several LMS systems. The service provided by CommLab employees was excellent, their eLearning expertise far surpasses what we expected, and we experienced no language barriers. We have since recommended CommLab to our non-profit business partners for additional elearning development.
